All school staff must remain familiar with the relevant laws, the codes of conduct, and policies and procedures in relation to child protection, and comply with all requirements.

8. Student safety and participation and empowerment

At our school, we actively encourage all students to openly express their views and feel comfortable about giving voice to the things that are important to them including expressing their identity. This may include expressions of culture, sexuality and gender.

We teach students about what they can do if they feel unsafe and enable them to understand, identify, discuss and report their concerns. We listen to and act on any concerns students, or their parents or carers, raise with us.

The curriculum design integrates appropriate knowledge and skills to enhance students' understanding of being safe, as well as their understanding of their rights to safety, information and participation. Teaching and learning strategies that acknowledge, and support student agency and voice are implemented. We ensure that students are offered access to sexual abuse prevention programs and to relevant related information in an age-appropriate way.

We have developed appropriate education about:

- standards of behaviour for students attending our school
- healthy and respectful relationships (including sexuality)
- resilience
- child abuse awareness and prevention.

We have also developed curriculum planning documents that detail the strategies and actions the school takes to implement its obligations to ensure that:

- children and students are informed about all their rights, including to safety, information and participation
- the importance of friendship is recognised and support from peers is encouraged, to help children and students feel safe and be less isolated
- staff and volunteers are attuned to signs of harm and facilitate child-friendly ways for children and students to express their views, participate in decision-making and raise their concerns

Posters around the school outline steps for reporting concerns, recognising unsafe situations, and contacting trusted adults. Age-appropriate visual displays and student-friendly language are used to promote help-seeking and protective behaviours. Contact details for key staff, including wellbeing leaders, are published on the school website. Students are advised of independent child advocacy contacts and helplines. These resources ensure students can easily identify safe adults, understand reporting pathways, and feel confident accessing support
- Invitation for students to collaborate in the creation of a child friendly version of the Code of Conduct with a review process in place
